One of Long Island's great estates at the dawn of the 20th century, Brookwood Hall is now home to the administrative offices of the Department of Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs. One of the Town's most diverse recreational sites, this 35-acre park includes 2 athletic fields, 2 tennis courts, a learning center, picnic area, and nature trails; all in a lakeside setting. In addition to the recreational pursuits available, Brookwood Hall is also home to the Islip Art Museum and Islip Arts Council.
